Rusk, Gromyko Make Progress

NEW YORK (AP)-State Secretary Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko held the last of their new talks on the Berlin crisis today with some evidence that they will be able to agree on a negotiating formula at further meetings in Washing-

Western diplomats said the western diplomats said the dicussions here, though apparently inconclusive, had served to define the issues more clearly. They also gave some encouragement that Russia will agree to acceptable arrangements for an East-West foreign ministers' conference later this year.

Session Program Prepared

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)-Prime to submit a new legislative program at a new session Parliament opening in early December, an in-formed source said Friday night. This intention rules out any likelihood of a general election this autumn or winter, observers said. Exact date for the opening of the new session—which will be the fifth session of the 24th Parliament since 1867—is ex-pected to be decided by the prime minister after an inten-sive series of cabinet meetings scheduled for the next few weeks.

Mr. Diefenbaker was ported to be considering either Dec. 4 or 11 for the start of the regular 1962 session of Parlia-ment. He hopes to have the House of Commons complete his formal debate before Christ-mas on the speech from the throne outlining the new legis lative program.

If the earlier date is chosen ne Commons might then give initial study to one or two major government measures, set up committees, and pre-pare itself for the intensive part of the new session's work starting early in January, 1962.

DIEF WILL BE BUSY

Mr. Diefenbaker also was reported to have committed himself and his cabinet col-leagues to a busy schedule for October and November, leading to the new session in De-cember and leaving no likelihood of an election call in the immediate future.

How to Hurt Camping

STATISTICS ON BRITISH COlumbia's parks show clearly once again that more and more people in this province are turning to healthful outdoor recreation. The number of day visitors increased about 7 per cent this year over last and about three-quarters of them came from various part of British

But the statistics provide strong evidence of another development in the Held. The British Columbia government has found a depressing way of cutting down on the use of public campsites.

In three of the four areas where the government imposed a $2 a day penalty for occupancy of a site for more than two days, the camping grounds ran well below capacity. Only at Okanagan Lake was occupancy above that of 1960.

The returns from the penalty, or fee, were negligible. People stayed away rather than submit to extra charge in three of the four camps on which the charge was imposed. At Cultus Lake, Shuswap Lake and Miracle Beach sites remained empty during a July and August which, from a point of view of weather, could scarcely have been more favorable.

The government explained the imposition of its new charge as a move to prevent the "camp hog" from setting down roots in one location and thereby preventing other people from enjoying their share of camping amenities.

In three of the four parks chosen for the penalty experiment, "camp hogs" did not locate. But the cure was scarcely, if at all, less injurious than the disease. Sites

The case against any charge is moisture.

The simple amenities now provided, and paid for through taxes, are widely paid for through taxes, are widely appreciated. Were a charge to be imposed, the camper might, with some justification, ask for hot and cold showers, washing facilities not now provided, electricity outlets and "conveniences."

The parks budget which conceivably might otherwise go to expanding parks, making more campsites available for healthy recreation, could be channeled into a few parks for expensive services.

Beyond this, an increasing number of campers very possibly would revert to setting up tents and lighting fires in wilderness areas where there is virtually no supervision. The dangers inherent in such a course—the fire menace alone—the conviction of the con

There is some danger of a fatal mis-understanding on Khrushchev's part. But it does not lie in anything so simple and absurd as the notion that the Rus-sians believe the Americans are cowards.

Does anyone suppose that Khrushchev supposes that if he attacked West Berlin as the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, this country would surrender? Not for a moment.

The danger lies in the possibility that he might misjudge what he could do short of anything so obvious as the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor or, let us say, Hitler's invasion of Poland. A TRUE COMPARISON IN wages effective in Britain and those paid in British Columbia cannot be based solely on the actual amount of money the individual receives in either place. The impor-tant factor in the comparison is what each pay packet will buy in the country where it is paid. At the same time, figures for the teaching profession furnish an interesting contrast. British teachers recently received an increase. Under the new salary scales, a

"But I don't think Prime Minister Diefenbaker has made up his mind about the timing of an election." he said. "He will choose the most opportune time for his party and I think it will depend on the kind of winter we have economically in this country — how much unemployment there is, for instance."

These battles pitched leader Hugh Gaitskell, a moderate right-winger, into one of the beneliest and most difficult fights of his career.

Most are agreed now that Gaitskell has won and swung in the party around to this way of thinking. Observers are agreed that the movement's primary task in the months ahead is to gather more sup decision, now appears to have been successful. The majority

The "crying need" in Canada today was to get the economy "rolling again." This required an expansion of trade among other things.

"I think it is scandalous the way government ministers have been criticizing Britain's move to enter the European Common Market. Britain has said she is making the move with due regard to Commonwealth trade relations. We should regard this as an oppor-tunity to increase our trade." On the Columbia, Mr. Pearson declined to be pinned down as to whether his party agreed with the provincial or federal stands-whether all Canadian downstream power should be sold for cash or returned to Canada as cheap power as provided for in the Columbia River treaty with the U.S. He with party power experts.

win you the praise of your friends and the envy of your neighbours, and you can have it by starting with either an established lawn ox a well prepared seed bed.

. The months of September and October are

With established lawns, you must at this time provide nourishment to help your replace the nutrients used during the eight or nine month period of maximum growth. UPLANDS SPECIAL is a recor blend of nitrates, phosphates, and potash. Spread at the rate of only 2 or 3 pounds per 100 square feet, it will provide the nutrit to revitalize your lawn surely and safely,

An UPLANDS GREEN lawn planted in the fall has the benefit of cool winter months during which to establish an extensive root system. It will also gain an important head start on weed seeds, which normally germinate in the spring. UP-LANDS GREEN is a mixture of seven varieties of fescues, bents, and bluegrasses in the ideal proportions for our climate. Plan to sow one pound only per 150 square feet. Spring comes first to Victoria, and the gardens of Victoria are noted for the blaze of color with which it is greeted. This color is not just a chance happening, it is the result of work and planning by the garden owners. The planning is done while the spring color is still in evidence, and the work is done in the fall.

Entrance Hall Poses Own Decor Problem

By JOYCE SCHULLER

CHICAGO (UPI)-The decor of an entrance fover or hall should be in keeping with the rest of the house. It can be more dramatic, but the period and furnishings should not be in complete contrast, decorators advise.

It's best to let walls, ceiling and floor of an entranceway provide the decorative interest and limit furnishings in this small area to a few utilitarian pieces.

If the entranceway is not a separate room but a parti-tioned area in view of the way-should include a chair or in the living room, use a pattern in the entranceway, and vice versa. Or use a reverse of the pattern in the living room for the entranceway to relate the two rooms, at the same time separating them.

Another rule of the thumb:
paint the walls of the entranceway the color of the next room adjoining the living room rather than the same color as the living room.

The Quoit Game That Changed the Face of Spring The Legend of the Hyacinth

Hyacinthus, a handsome mortal, was the favorite of Apollo, the Sun God and Zephyrus, God of the West Wind. One day as Apollo and Hyacinthus were playing quoits, they were spled upon by Zephyrus — who flew into a jealous tage. Waiting for Apollo's turn to throw the quoit, Zephyrus below it off course, striking Hyacinthus in the head. Hyscinthus in the head.

The blow killed the boy at once. Grief-stricken, Apollo vowed that the beauty of his young-friend should be immortalized, and from the blood of the youth he created the rich, frag-tant flower known as the byscinth.

Since then, the byscinth has transformed the face of many Springs with its clear, rainbow colors and haunting, heady fragrance.

References to the hyacinth are found in some Accreences to the hyacinth are found in some of man's earliest writings but it took till the 16th Century for it to reach Europe. By the 18th Century, it had become see "fashion" flower of France where you needed lireally a king's ratiom to buy certain hyacinth bulbs. Want to know how it feels to be obsolete? It's easy. Just ask the kids around your house if they know who Honus Wagner was, his team, position, and what he did to make him famous. Or you might try it with Jimmy Foxx, Lefty Grove, Ty Cobb

HONUS WAGNER . . rare old card

Carl Hubbell, Connie Mack, Lou Gebrig, Hank Green-berg, Or, if Roger Maris hadn't challenged his home might even have been Babe If you don't believe that even the younger set of base-ball nuts wouldn't know about such a great slugger as Jimmy Foxx, who clouted 58 home runs in 1932, then just ask the leaders of the bubble gum industry. These gentlemen, who make a size-able stack of dollars from knowing about these things, assure us that:

 American and Cana-dian kids this summer bought, traded or flipped for 270 million baseball cards— just as their fathers, grandfathers and great-grandfathers have done since 1884. Of the 580 baseball faces and their statistics that adorned cards this wear the most popular were Maris, Mickey Mantle, Jim Piersall, Willie Mays, Vada Pinson, Frank Robinson, Norm Cash, Jim Gentile and other relative newcomers like that.

The real diamond Titans of former years, like Wagner, Ruth, Cobb, Cy Young, didn't appear at all. They never do.

Ruth. Cobb. Cy Young didn't appear at all. They never do. The bubble gum industry has learned, through experience, not to bother with the old-time heroes.

But if kids of the atomic age aren't interested in the good old days when a guy didn't have to wonder if somebody was going to push the wrong button and blast the world in half, they apparently make up for it by taking today's cards to heart. Just let somebody gum up a player's card—either photo or stetistics—and watch out.

Grown-Ups Also Card-Collectors

Take 1959, for example, when Warren Spahn talked his lake 1958, for example, when warren spann taked his Milwaukee pitching mate. Lew Burdette, into posing for a baseball card photo as a left-hander.

Both thought it was a good joke.
The photographer didn't catch the switch. Neither did the art director nor the three former baseball scouts enditioned by that are highly sum company to use its card

ployed by that one bubble gum company to run its card

But thousands of youngsters sat down and wrote let-ers explaining angrily to the gum makers that Burdette is a right-hander, so maybe they better get a new camera.

Modern baseball card collecting has been made so big and so professional by the kids that some sportscasters now use the cards as a quick reference library. And adults arguing over a point in baseball lore are liable to turn to the d-and-gum makers for a ruling

The card trade is now so big that it supports another business—dealers in second-hand or out-of-print baseball eards, needed to fill out collections. Their customers are not only kids, but include at least 5,000 grown-up men and

In the words of one dealer: "What's so funny? people collect Rembrandts and Picassos, Some collect stamps. Others collect cards,"

Only 6 Honus Wagner Cards Remain

For the older set it should be comforting to learn that the most valuable card of all—baseball, football, hockey, flags, presidents, kings, etc.—is one of Honus Wagner. Wagner, perhaps the greatest baseball player of them all. It is Because it was issued by a cigarette company, Wagner, a non-smoker, asked them to withdraw it. Only six are known to remain.

For the past 25 years, however, it has been cards and able gum. "And you can always tell when it's baseball hubble gum. "And you can always tell when it's baseball season," says a spokesman for the gum people.

"All through the summer, our wrappers have been lying all over the place, with the unchewed gum still inside."
Now it's hockey time and in my gum package yesterday I got cards of Tim Horton, Sid Abel, Dick Duff and Pete Goegan. With all due respect for the ability of Abel and Goegan, who will be at Memorial Arena tonight with Detroit Ped Wings, Fil trade all four for a Howie Morenz in fair condition.

And, it might be added, now I know why the kids throw the gum away.

'GO IT ALONE' AT FAIR

Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau commissioner W. E. Hawkins would like to see the Island "go it alone" on the engaging of a $60,000 booth at Seattle's "Century 21" World

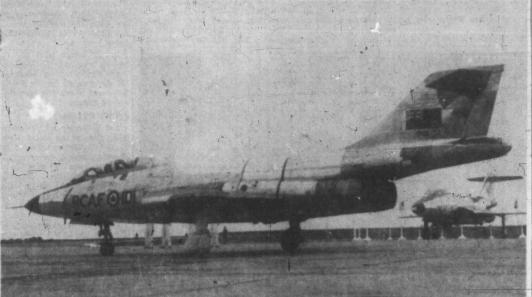

An alternative plan, dis cussed by a representative committee on a visit to Seattle this week, would depend on in teresting the rest of B.C. on joining in a similar plan.

"I just wish I could find another $55,000," he said today. "It would be the best money we could ever spend."

Here is a summary of his figuring: Experts estimate from 7½ to 12½ million people will visit the fair during the six months it is in operation. Mr. Hawkins took the total of 5 million, then said "surely we could get 10 per cent of that number to visit Victoria, because it is undertood no accommodation may be kept for longer than three days in Seattle. That would mean a possible 500,000 visitors might stay here."

"Tourist, smoorist," said Caddy, inching further forward and resting his long neck on a rock outcropping.
"I been digging a fall-out shelter."
"A fall-out shelter," I cried. "Why do you need a fall-out shelter?"

"It appears," said Caddy, moving in closer and put-ting his head on my knee, "that you higher vertebrates are on the point of falling out with each other. "And the result of this falling-out," said Caddy, roll-ing an amber or bupward, "is that you are going to kill each other dead.

"I would not object to this so much," he added, shedding a salty tear on my trouser leg, "were it not for the fact you higher vertebrates are apt to kill other more important creatures, such as me."

"What can I do to help?" I asked, wiping his watery eyes with a piece of seaweed.

"You can help me stock my fall-out shelter with a spot or two of food," he said.

"Tinned stuff, of course," said Caddy, brightening perceptibly. "Caviar, lobster, condensed milk, pork and beans if you can find any with pork in it, sardines, salmon,

B.C. Tories are in desperate need of a big personality and a big name to revive their slumping

The man from Kamloops looks like the best prospects

It could also be the best solution from all sides to the great dispute on B.C.'s power policy.

Mr. Fulton has of late been the only

Ottawa "gunman" in the battle with Pre-mier Bennett over development of the Columbia and Peace Rivers.

Rutter stand against sale of Columbia down-stream benefits to the U.S. is causing some embarrasshis federal cabinet colleagues.

If Premier Bennett can play his trump card—an ticipated commitment from U.S. authorities to buy the benefits for 5 mills on a long-term basis—then, he argues, how can Ottawa refuse to go ahead on the Columbia?

But on his home ground in B.C., Mr. Fulton could still wage a more local fight on the power issue in the next pro-vincial election.

He could set himself up as the last champion of full free enterprise in B.C. and probably win some seats in the legislature.

The recently-completed federal census has raised the possibility of redistribution of seats in the provincial House.

Whether Premier Bennett will consider it is another matter.

But some of the figures show the need for reorganization of urban ridings such as Saanich, Victoria and the Greater Vancouver area. For example, the census shows that Saanich munici-

Did the B.C. Power Corporation take the wrong tack -possibly deliberately—in presenting a petition of right for permission to sue the government?

It appears the bid for better compensation in the B.C.

Electric takeover is blocked at every intersection: • The Crown cannot admit it might be wrong about anything, therefore there is no possibility of it issuing a fiat for an action "in tort"—an action concerning negligence or any fault on its part;

• The Crown cannot grant a petition challenging a statute of the B.C. legislature; it has no legal control over the legislature, which is the supreme lawmaker in the province and which let the compensation at $110,985,045;

No action is possible under the sole B.C. law permitting a suit in tort against a Crown agency—the B.C. Electric; the relevant section of the Power Development Act passed at this August's session applies only to people suing the company itself, and the company did not set the terms of compensation. Only one avenue remains open: B.C. Power must find vay to challenge the legislature itself.

This it might do through the courts by claiming the

Mrs. R. T. Foot, right, is president of the board of directors at Rose Manor; Mrs. R. Bonar, the secretary, Mrs. Foot follows her mother, the late Mrs. F. W. Vincent, in the position. Board members, at different times, have included second and third generations interested in this work.

Long-time residents in Rose Manor are, from the left, Mrs. E. Spink, Miss A. Mortimer and Mrs. M. Oliver. Nearly all residents have their own radios and there are three TV sets, gifts of interested persons. Entertainment is provided by clubs and musical groups from time to time.

Long-service members of a staff of 29 include: Front row, from left, Miss M. Weller and Mar Kow Chong: back row, from left, Miss P. Sturge, Mrs. Frances Kergin, Mrs. N. Fox, secretary for the establishment; Mrs. D. Todd, assistant matron, and Mrs. M. L. Perkins, The matron, Mrs. B. Whitney, was away when the picture was taken.

Rose Manor as it is today, surrounded by lawns and flower beds, where garden teas and bazaars are held by sponsoring women's groups to assist in maintenance of this friendly establishment for the aged. Sixty-three years ago, two aged fedies were residents of the first small building ,with a housekeeper to care for them. Today, there are 100 residents in the buildings.

Renovations Now Completed

Extension of the dining room at Rose Manor (formerly the Aged and Infirm Women's Home) and completion of a new waiting room and office facilities, will be officially marked with an "Open House" tea on Wednesday, Oct. 11, at the Manor. Mrs. George R. Pearkes will open the affair and those attending will be given the opportunity to inspect not only the renovations but all modern features of this bright and cheery home for elderly women.

The Manor has been in operation as a home for elderly women since 1898. Housed first in the old French Benevolent Society Hospital, which was rented for the nominal sum of $1 from Royal' Jubilee Hospital; then in a new building built in 1908 with special needs of the residents in mind, it has grown and expanded in the 63 years. An addition was made in 1912, a new wing added in 1938 and the nurses' home was completed in 1940. Further renovations have been made since then, culminating with the present changes. Extensions and renovations over the years have been made possible through generous bequests of citizens who have been well-wishers of Rose Manor.

Mrs. L. Wardman, the board's first vice-president; Mrs. John Kell, second vice-president, and Mrs. H. Warren, corresponding secretary, left to right, in the new and modern waiting room lounge, recently completed. Other members of the board are Mrs. M. Royle, Mrs. J. Ingram Smith, Mrs. E. T. Cantell, Mrs. G. Soutar, Mrs. C. B. Jameson and Mrs. N. Phillips.

THE RESIDENCE THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF T

Rose Manor is selfsupporting.

There are 100 single bedrooms, four sunrooms, a church room, modernized kitchen, newly-equipped laundry, an elevator for residents and a staff residence nearby. Reasonable rates for board and room are charged and the money is disbursed to cover provisions, fuel, maintenance charges and staff salaries.

View of the enlarged dining room, where it will now be possible for all residents to eat at the same time. Enter-tainment and programs will now be presented in this room. Dining tables each seat from four to six ladies.

New Book on Alcoholism Written by Victoria Man By PENNY SAVER

When someone as prominent as James Audain walks into a store and asks how sales on his new book are going, it's only natural that Penny, being snoopy by nature, has to find out what the book's about.

Title of book is "Courage to Change the Things We Can."

It's a novel dealing with experiences of a group of alcoholies in London, Eng., who, after defeating their own problem, set about to help others faced with this modern social scourge. After taking a hurried glance through the first few pages Penny promised herself to get a copy next time she has $3

There's nothing more flattering than a shapely sheath dress—except, of course—when you sit down and an inch or more of a slip makes its appearance! This problem disappears if you get one of the pettipants that have just arrived in store I was in this week.

This two-in-one garment has daintily scalloped legs that end just above the knee. Available in small, medium and large sizes, they sell at $4.98. Made of nylon, you can choose either a brown floral or one that comes in vibrant blue tones.

Here's fhe piece of news that women who love to be warm—and pretty—in winter flannel pyjamas have been waiting for. New ones in town are so attractive that you'll be tempted to use them as lounging wear. Tapered pants come in solid colors of blue or gold. Design that seems Aztec-inspired is used for a tunic-length overblouse that completes ensemble. Tiny slits at shoulder seam are new note on rounded neckline and sleeves are three-quarter length. Overblouse for blue pants comes in blue, magenta, black and white, while others are in earthy lones of gold, rust, ted, black and green.

Solid-colored tie belt adds an extra note of fashion. They're sized from 34 to 38 and priced at $3.98.

camping, are closed by Oct. 1; the town of Jackson is open through the winter. For that matter it is wide open, with wheel spinning cube juggling, card shuffling and other in-card shuffling and other indoor sports going on in the best of places.

Jackson has wooden sidewalks, most of them covered, and its citizens affect cowboy gear the way Madison Ayenue affects button downs. So me even wear old-style beaver hats made to order in two days by the Jackson Hole Hat days by the Jackson Hole Hat Works, C. C. Cummins, prop. Mr. Cummins still makes 50 hats a year of the type that were high fashion in the 1840s until the silk topper replaced them.

The snows bring a new sea-son to Jackson and the double chair lift installed in back of town takes skiers on a 1,571-foot vertical rise up Snow King Mountain. The view from the top sweeps across 30 mines of the rocky West. There is a hockey rink at the foot of the lift, hemmed in by a colony of motels.

A new one called the Alp Horn, hardly 25 yards from the lift, has all the appurten-ances of an alpine resort with American motel accommo tions and eminently reasonable prices. A room for two costs SS in winter and that includes juice, coffee and sweet rolls in the morning. It has a big lounge on the upper deck with a view of the mountain through a triangular picture window and a fire that roars in a triangular fireplace.

P&O-Orient Lines' 28,000-ton Oronsay sails for the Orient this November.

Now you can sail to Japan and the Orient for less than it costs to vacation at home!

P &O-QRIENT LINES now offer vacations to the fabulous Orient-Japan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Singapore-for as little as $17 a day!

For example, a round trip to Manila costs less than you'd spend at a resort hotel by the day. You'll see the Orient on your way. And you have a choice of any one of frequent sailings timed for the best seasons.

A glance at the map below shows you your course. You board your graceful P&O-Orient liner at Vancouver, San Francisco or Long Beach.

A few short days later you're in Honolulu where yo can pick orchids, ride a surfboard or learn the hula. Seven days later you step ashore in Japan at Yokohama. (Suggestion: take the trip overland from Tokyo to Kobe on the beautiful Inland Sea where you can pick up your ship again three days later.) Your next stop is Hong Kong with its treasure-troves for shop-

The last port of call on your trip can be .

Manila, Singapore, Australia or even Europe, depending upon which ship you take.

Travel in the Grand Manner

The service on P&O-Orient liners is delightfully British. A steward is never more than a finger's wave away. Your meals are in the great Continental tradition. Your ship has two swimming pools (one in tourist and one in first class) and thousands of feet of open deck for sun and games. There are movies, parties, dances, concerts and all the time in the world for catching up on your reading and meeting new friends from every part of the world.

And it's all yours whether you shoot the works and go glitteringly first class, or gayly informal in tourist.

'GO IT ALONE' AT FAIR

Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau commissioner W. E. Hawkins would like to see the Island "go it alone" on the engaging of a $60,000 booth at Seattle's "Century 21" World

An alternative plan, dis-cussed by a representative committee on a visit to Seattle this week, would depend on in-teresting the rese of B.C. on An alternative plan, joining in a similar plan.

"I just wish I could find an other $35,000," he said today "It would be the best money could ever spend."

Here is a summary of his figuring: Experts estimate from 7½ to 12½ million people will visit the fair during the onths it is in operation. Mr. Hawkins took the total of 5 million, then said "surely we could get 10 per cent of that number to visit Victoria, because it is undertood no accoramodation may be kept for longer than three days in That would mean a ssible 500,000 visitors might stay here.

In fact, there hasn't been a Caddy report all summer

So I was surprised, and pleased, the other day at the beach to note a familiar commotion in the water.

A few little wisps of steam appeared above the spindrift and floating grapefruit rinds, a twin set of ripples washed at my feet against the outgoing tide, and I looked up to gaze into a pair of opaque orbs about the size of the headlights on a C and C bus

"Caddy," I cried, "Caddy, my pal, where have you

The opaque orbs shifted to right, to left, and back "Are we alone?" asked Caddy.

"Yes," I whispered. "Go ahead, pal, you can talk." Caddy wiggled a bit closer, so his hump showed above the shallowing water, and his handsome horse-type head was only a foot from mine.

"Busy?" I said, in my most accusing tone of voice,
"Busy doing what? You haven't been doing your job, which is to be seen by tourists so you can earn your keep as a tourist attraction.'

"Tourist, smoorist," said Caddy, inching further forward and resting his long neck on a rock outcropping.
"I been digging a fall-out shelter."

"A fall-out shelter," I cried. "Why do you need a fall-out shelter."

ding a salty tear on my trouser leg, "were it not for the fact you higher vertebrates are apt to kill other more important creatures, such as me."

"What can I do to help?" I asked, wiping his watery eyes with a piece of seaweed.

"You can help me stock my fall-out shelter with a spot or two of food," he said. Such as?" Lasked.

"Tinned stuff, of course," said Caddy, brightening per-ceptibly. "Caviar, lobster, condensed milk, pork and beans if you can find any with pork in it, sardines, salmon, pressed duck, spaghetti and meat balls '. . . oh, you

Mr. Fulton has of late been the only Ottawa "gunman" in the battle with Premier Bennett over development of the Columbia and Peace Rivers. There are indications his unswerving Rutter stand against sale of Columbia down-stream benefits to the U.S. is causing some embarrassment to his federal cabinet colleagues If Premier Bennett can play his trump card—an anticipated commitment from U.S. authorities to buy the benefits for 5 mills on a long-term basis—then, he argues, how can Ottawa refuse to go ahead on the Columbia?

But on his home ground in B.C., Mr. Fulton could still wage a more local fight on the power issue in the next pro-

He could set himself up as the last champion of full free enterprise in B.C and probably win some seats in the legislature

The recently-completed federal census has raised the possibility of redistribution of seats in the provincial House, Whether Premier Bennett will consider it is another

But some of the figures show the need for reorganizaon of urban ridings such as Saanich, Victoria and the Greater Vancouver area.

For example, the census shows that Saanich munici-For example, the census shows that Saanich municipality, which is virtually the same area as Saanich provincial constituency, has now a population of 48,145.

Saanich has only one MLA. Victoria, with a population of 53,861, has three MLAs.

Did the B.C. Power Corporation take the wrong tack -possibly deliberately—in presenting a petition of right for permission to sue the government?

It appears the bid for better compensation in the B.C. Electric takeover is blocked at every intersection:

The Crown cannot admit it might be wrong about anything, therefore there is no possibility of it issuing a fiat for an action "in tort"—an action concerning negligence or any fault on its part; The Crown cannot grant a petition challenging a statute of the B.C. legislature; it has no legal control over the legislature, which is the supreme lawmaker in the province and which set the compensation at $110,985,045;

◆ No action is possible under the sole B.C. law permitting a suit in tort against a Crown agency—the B.C. Electric; the relevant section of the Power Development Act passed at this August's session applies only to people suing the company itself, and the company did not set the terms of compensation.

Only one avenue remains open: B.C. Power must find way to challenge the legislature itself.

This it might do through the courts by claiming the ower Development Act unconstitutional, but this has sev-

Maris Fails. Has One Game Left

Roger Maris was down to ne game in his bid to hit 61

ome runs. The New York Yankees star went to the plate four times in a game against the Boston Red Sox today and finished up with a record of a walk, two ground outs and a single. Yankees won the game 3-1. Yanks play Boston again Sunday in their last game of the season and Maris will likely get four chances to clout that magic No. 61.
